Hobbs Parker Car Auctions LLP have been holding regular vehicle auctions since 1945 and operate from a purpose built state of the art multi million pound auction centre in Ashford.

Hobbs Parker conduct over 125 vehicle auctions per year in which are sold thousands of vehicles on behalf of large organisations, local authorities, utility companies, main dealers and franchised agents, motor traders and private individuals.

In 2013 it was decided that Hobbs Parker would hold a specific Classic car auction on the back of popular demand and classic vehicles regularly appearing in our various other specialist auctions throughout the year.

The auction conducted in July 2013 was extremely well received and another was hosted the following year.
We now host our popular Classic Car Auction every year.

Selling a classic car at Hobbs Parker really is very straightforward and effective, our staff will do the majority of the work for you to ensure your vehicle achieves the best possible price.

When selling your car one of the most important aspects is setting a reserve. We will discuss this with you and give you our advice, the reserve is confidential between you the vendor and us as auctioneers acting on your behalf.

The reserve is essentially the lowest figure you will accept for your vehicle, it is important that a realistic reserve is set as a higher reserve can potentially put off potential bidders. It is far easier to persuade someone to continue bidding than to start in the first instance.

Sellers commission is 10% of the sale price (all charges subject to VAT)
